

Code of Conduct and Business Ethics

Document Code: HR-POL-02 | Version: 4.1 | Effective Date: 1 April 2025 | Owner: Human Resources / IT Department

1. Conflicts of Interest

Employees must disclose any actual or potential conflict of interest — including outside employment, board memberships, or financial interests in vendors, clients, or competitors — via the annual Conflict of Interest declaration, and immediately upon any new conflict arising. Undisclosed conflicts are treated as a serious violation of this Code.

2. Gifts and Hospitality

Employees may not solicit or accept gifts, favors, or entertainment from vendors, clients, or partners with a value exceeding INR 2,000 per instance. Any gift above this threshold must either be declined or reported to the Ethics Committee and, if accepted for practical reasons (e.g., cannot be returned without offense), surrendered to HR for record-keeping or raffle at a company event.

3. Anti-Harassment and POSH Compliance

Nimbus Technologies maintains a zero-tolerance policy toward harassment, discrimination, and retaliation of any kind. The company's Internal Committee (IC), constituted under the Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) Act, 2013, investigates all complaints. Employees may report concerns confidentially through the Ethics Hotline (ethics@nimbustech.example) or directly to any IC member. Retaliation against a complainant or witness is itself a terminable offense.

4. Confidentiality and Intellectual Property

All employees sign a Non-Disclosure and Intellectual Property Assignment Agreement at onboarding. Confidentiality obligations for trade secrets and proprietary business information survive for 2 years after the end of employment. All work product created during employment, using company resources, is the sole property of Nimbus Technologies.

5. Disciplinary Process

Violations of this Code are addressed through a progressive disciplinary framework, except in cases of gross misconduct (e.g., harassment, fraud, data theft), which may result in immediate termination:

- Step 1 — Verbal Warning: documented in the HR system, valid for 6 months.
- Step 2 — Written Warning: formal letter placed in employee file, valid for 12 months.
- Step 3 — Performance Improvement Plan (PIP): a structured 30–60 day improvement period with defined milestones.

- Step 4 — Termination: for continued violations after a PIP, or for gross misconduct at any stage.
